

Abstract

The description includes techniques of data storage address translation. The techniques can include receiving a first address in a first address space, traversing a trie based on the first address, and determining a second address based on the traversal.

20250303 10:00:00